About Amana®

As the innovative manufacturer behind the world's first walk-in cooler and the Radarange microwave oven, the Amana brand has long been an American institution. And the same commitment to quality and innovation behind Amana brand home appliances goes into Amana brand heating and air conditioning equipment. In fact, we believe that the Amana brand is the standard-bearer for gas furnaces in the HVAC industry, thanks to its proprietary MillionAir® heat exchanger. And when the temperature heats up outdoors, Amana brand comfort systems are ready with a premium, high-quality line of air conditioners and heat pumps that we consider to be among the most energy-efficient in the marketplace. Add to these high-quality products what we believe to be some of the industry's best warranties and you'll know why the Amana brand has stood for innovation and dependability for almost a century.
